A black, rectangular electronic device is shown. It features a small, rectangular LCD screen in the upper-middle section. Above the screen, there are several ports: a BNC connector with a black coaxial cable attached, and a row of four smaller, dark ports. Below the screen, there is a long, horizontal multi-pin connector. The device is resting on a light-colored, possibly white, surface. The background is slightly out of focus, showing some papers and other items on a desk.
